

UPPER AMAZON: A RIVER EXPEDITION

EXPEDITIONS

April 17-25, 2027 | Aboard the Delfin II
SPECIAL OFFER: 10% GROUP SAVINGS

Dear Alumni and Friends,

There's a sense of enchantment about being on the fabled Amazon River and listening to the symphony of sounds emanating from the depths of the jungle. Part of the Amazon's mystique is that the omnipresent wildlife is adept at concealment; but as you become skilled at spotting creatures like sloths, monkeys and scarlet macaws, your excitement will quickly escalate.

Join us for an exploration of Peru's incredibly biodiverse Pacaya-Samiria Reserve aboard the Delfin II, the perfect platform for discovering this living, breathing forest. This exquisite 28-guest ship is specially designed to keep you connected with your jungle surroundings—open, airy decks and spacious suites, each with expansive windows, afford nonstop views of life along the Amazon. Delfin II is equipped with comfortable, custom-made skiffs that are able to thread through narrow canopied waterways. Plus, she carries a fleet of kayaks, providing rare, intimate experiences within this magical environment.

The staff, unmatched in this region, will be the key to your experience. You'll explore alongside local guides, many of whom grew up along the river. The expedition is also accompanied by a National Geographic-Lindblad Expeditions certified photo instructor, who is specially trained to help you capture images of rare wildlife sightings in the often challenging photography conditions of the rainforest.

To reserve your space, please return the reservation form, email groups@expeditions.com or call 833-985-1261.

Sincerely,

Rachele Neu
