Taste of the Riviera

As you sail the Mediterranean Sea along the coast of France and then down to the Italian Riviera, the flavors of each region will be revealed in the local food and wine you will have the opportunity to taste. One of our first stops will be in the medieval city of Carcassonne, France—home to several renowned wine regions, including Corbières, Minervois and Fitou. Enjoy lunch on your own at one of the many quintessential Carcassonne bistros. Continue to savor the specialties of the area when we dock in the medieval port city of Genoa, famous for its Genovese pesto sauce. A walking tour of the city includes a tasting at the iconic Romanengo Confectionery, which dates to 1780. Throughout your journey you'll sample wines and cheeses, and savor dishes made with fresh tomatoes, olives, herbs and other produce grown on the sun-drenched Mediterranean coast.

Legends of La Côte d'Azur

In 1887, French writer Stephen Liégeard attempted to define the allure of a strip of Mediterranean coast between Marseille and Italy—an emerging winter destination for Europe’s wealthy and elite. His book was titled "La Côte d'Azur" and from that time forward, this “short but delicious” route along the Riviera coast of France and Italy would become known as such. English aristocracy began flocking to the area as early as the 18th century for a luxurious respite in what was often referred to as a coastal “garden of Eden.” The addition of a railway line in the mid- to late-19th century ensured access to a dazzling enclave of grand hotels and casinos that are now known collectively as the “Rivieras.” Today, these sparkling coastlines famously epitomize a glamorous age that captured the popular imagination in everything from F. Scott Fitzgerald’s novel "Tender is the Night" to the 1955 film set in Monaco, "To Catch a Thief" (starring American actress Grace Kelly, who became princess of Monaco!) Experience the best of this captivating region on our exclusive cruise itinerary, which takes you from Barcelona to the coast of Marseilles and then on to such iconic Rivieras hot spots as Nice, Monaco, Portofino and Cinque Terre aboard a four-masted, yacht-like sailing ship.
